

Comprehension

Read the passage carefully. Answer the questions.

Vehicles, such as cars, buses, trains, planes and boats, transport us from one place to another. Some people use transport to make short daily trips to work or school. Others use it for longer journeys, such as a holiday or a business trip overseas. Public transport is designed to move large groups of people from one place to another. Buses, trains, trams, ferries and planes are types of public transport. Private transport includes cars, motorcycles and bicycles. People who travel a long distance to and from work are known as commuters. Many students use buses and trains to get to and from school. The first living creatures to fly in a hot-air balloon were a sheep, a duck and a rooster.

Comprehension

Read the passage carefully. Answer the questions.

It was a cloudy day up in the mountains. Penny swam around in her mountain stream with all the other fish. Her mother looked at her proudly. "She can swim faster than all her friends," she thought. She called Penny to her side and said, "You are a powerful swimmer, Penny. But you must never swim near those big, brown rocks around the south bend." Before she could say any more, big drops of rain fell. All the fish hurried back to their underwater cave. Penny found her friend, Byron. "Why must we stay away from the big, brown rocks?" she asked. "I don't know," said Byron. Penny swam to the mouth of the cave and looked towards the south. "How proud everyone would be if I found out what was beyond those big, brown rocks," she thought. With a strong swish of her tail, she swam off quickly, forgetting what her mother said. Penny swam closer to the big, brown rocks. The loud sound of rushing water frightened Penny. She thought she would swim back to the cave, but she couldn't turn around. She was caught in the rushing water and was being pulled towards the big, brown rocks. The water rolled her over and over and over. Suddenly, she realised was falling.

A. Write short answers in your notebook.

1. What kind of a day was it?
2. Why was Penny's mother proud of her?

Comprehension

Read the passage carefully. Answer the questions.

Sujay loved candy! He liked all kinds and often thought how nice it would be to live in a land where everything was made of candy. It so happened that one day, while playing in the garden, Sujay fell into a bush and kept falling down and down and down! When he stopped falling he found himself on a hill completely covered with flowers. Never in his life had he seen flowers of so many sizes, shapes and colours. Butterflies darted through them and birds sang softly from the treetops. Sujay felt he was in heaven! He ran into the flowers and touched them. To his surprise the flowers were stiff and unbending. He plucked a red rose and put it to his nose but there was no smell. Then, on an impulse, he put the rose into his mouth. The sweet juice of a cherry soaked in sugar filled his mouth. The centre of the rose was chocolate! Sujay couldn't believe his luck. His dream had come true. He was in Candyland! Sujay ran all over the hillside, eating different kinds of candy and chocolates. When he felt thirsty, he drank from a pool nearby. The water was actually lemonade! He ate and ate till he could not eat any more. Time passed and Sujay began to tire of Candyland. He could see candy flowers all around him but by then he was sick of them. He wanted the flowers to become normal roses, pansies, dahlias and lilies. A tear trickled down Sujay's cheek and fell on the grass. Would he ever get back home? Sujay felt himself falling along with the teardrop and when he got to his feet, he found himself in his own room at home! "Sujay, look what I've got for you. A box of chocolates!" his mother was saying standing at the door. "Some other time please, Mother. Somehow, I don't feel like having chocolates today," said Sujay as he ran to hug his mother.

Butterflies are insects with big wings. They have six legs. The three main parts of a butterfly are the head, the thorax and the abdomen. Butterflies also have wings. They use their colourful wings to fly and to attract mates. Butterflies have two antennae. They use them to touch, taste and smell. All butterflies begin life as caterpillars. The caterpillars change into butterflies. This change is called metamorphosis.

Chapter 9: The Pandemic Story

Captain Red Beard was excited. The Great Pirate Race was tomorrow. All the ships in the race had to sail out of Pirate Cove, around Skull Rock and back to port. The gun went off, the race was on. The Black Beast raced into the lead. Suddenly, there was a giant BOOM near the ship. "Shiver me topsails!" cried Captain Red Beard. "That was a cannonball." "It's Nasty Norman on The Red Dagger," said Lizzie. "His crew is trying to sink us!" "They'll have to catch us first," cried Captain Red Beard. Captain Red Beard steered The Black Beast towards Skull Rock. "Captain! What are you doing? We'll sink on the rocks!" said Lizzie. Nasty Norman and his crew followed The Black Beast. Boom! Boom! Boom! Cannonballs flew from The Red Dagger. Their cannons made a lot of smoke. Captain Red Beard smiled. He steered The Black Beast away from Skull Rock. Nasty Norman and his crew couldn't see where they were going. There was too much smoke around The Red Dagger. They sailed right into Skull Rock. The Black Beast sailed into Pirate Cove in first place. Captain Red Beard collected the winner's treasure.
